Outside is the broad, dusty, white road, baking hot in the full glare of a summer sun, but inside it is cool and shady; the weeping willows wave their long arms gently in the breeze, which makes a mournful sighing in the pines. And here the bees drowsy hum sounds as they fly from flower to flower, in an apparently aimless fashion, but always with one purpose in view. The cicada, hidden away in the thick greenery, sings his monotonous song, which vibrates through the hot air. His energy never seems to suffer diminution from the heat. The hotter the day the more persistent and penetrating is his rattle, until one longs for even an instant s silence. At last he ceases, and grateful silence ensues, save for the low coo-coo of the doves, which comes pleasantly from the coolest...
