Not illustrated. 1853 Excerpt: .the beach, to see shipwrecks, thought, with many others, that the destruction generally attendant on such disasters was irremediable; but he was now thoroughly convinced thai means might be devised to prevent such wholesale destruction of human life, within so short a distance from the shore. He recollected that he had, about the year 1783, tin own a line, by means of a small mortar, over Downham Church, in Norfolk; and it struck him that he might, by the same means, throw a line over a stranded vessel. After making many experiments, which proved unsuccessful, he obtained the use of a mortar from the Board of Ordnance; still he had to make numberless experiments l)efore he could succeed in his object. The grand difficulty lay in connecting the shot securely with the rope: chains of every form were found liable to break on the discharge; but...
